Reader's Advisory:

The Guggenheim and Whitney Libraries have announced the completion of Art Resources from the Mid-20th Century: Digitized Highlights from the Libraries of Hilla Rebay and Juliana Force. This project, funded by support provided by the Metropolitan New York Library Council, was designed to make up to 60,000 pages of rare and unique materials from the libraries of Hilla Rebay and Juliana Force—the inaugural directors of the Guggenheim and Whitney, respectively—accessible online through digitization. See: <http://archive.org/details/artresources> for details.

Looking for information in midcentury German architecture periodicals? A colleague, Kathryn Wayne (UC-Berkeley) suggests Kubikat, a German index created by librarians at Kunsthistorisches Institut/Max Planck Institut, Florence; Zentralinstitut für Kunstgeschichte, Munich; Biblioteca Hertziana/Max Planck Institut, Rome.
